NATIONS SIGN SECURITY PROTOCOL

LOCARNO CONFERENCE ENDS DECORUM THROWN TO WINDS

When Signing of Treaty Is Made—Throngs Cheer Germans, French and British Representatives To Peace Conference—Swiss Town In the Grip of a Carnival Spirit When the Second Armistice Is Signed By the Nations of Europe.

Europe's great security conference ended Friday night in a victory for peace.

At exactly 7:20 the European statesman who made this victory possible threw open a window on the second floor of the Palace of Justice and, rejecting decorum, announced to the waiting multitude that the Rhine pact and other treaties had been formally approved.

One of their number waved aloft the final protocol bearing the signatures of all the delegations as proof that the conference had succeeded in its mission.

Instantly the crowd gave vent to enthusiasm, rockets were sent into the air, their balls of fire narrowly escaping entering the windows and falling upon the shoulders of the delegates. The appearance at the window of M. Briand, the French foreign minister, was greeted with prolonged cheering.

When the British foreign secretary Austen Chamberlain came and waved his hand, the crowd clamored for a speech. Chancellor Luther and the German foreign minister, Dr. Stresemann, were acclaimed with no less fervor than their colleagues.

Laud Briand's Speech.

M. Briand's speech at the closing session of the conference which adjourned with the understanding that the treaties will be signed in London December 1, was described by his colleagues afterward as the most brilliant effort of his long career.

Dr. Stresemann had spoken first. Summarizing the work of the conference and emphasizing that its success spelled a new era in European relationships, he declared solemnly that Germany would loyally live up to the peace pact. He made a discreet allusion to foreign occupation of the Rhineland.

In response, M. Briand said that Locarno was not the end, but the beginning, of a new epoch—an epoch of cooperation and friendship. He gave unstinted praise to the noble ideals and generosity of the German statesmen who had originated the idea of fashioning security pacts for the maintenance of peace and declared that the world would duly render homage to this happy initiative.

He frankly took up Dr. Stresemann's allusion to the occupation and made it clear that this occupation would be so reduced as to give Germany no cause for complaint or uneasiness.

Turning toward Chancellor Luther and Dr. Stresemann, he said: "The people of France will soon recognize your loyal statement by an expression of good will toward the German people."

Austin Chamberlain, habitually cold and always master of himself, appeared to be at the verge of breaking down under the weight of joy and emotion which checked his words and made them almost unintelligible.

He dwelt upon what Locarno meant to world harmony and to the hopes of all peoples, and paid moving tribute to the spirit of accommodation of all the delegates.

M. Vandervelde, Belgium's Socialist foreign minister, pledged that the Socialists would ever, with heart and soul, back up the results achieved at Locarno, saying that the Socialists who suffered during the war knew the real meaning of peace.

At the closing session the Rhine

pact and the collateral arbitration treaties were all initialed and the final act or protocol was signed.

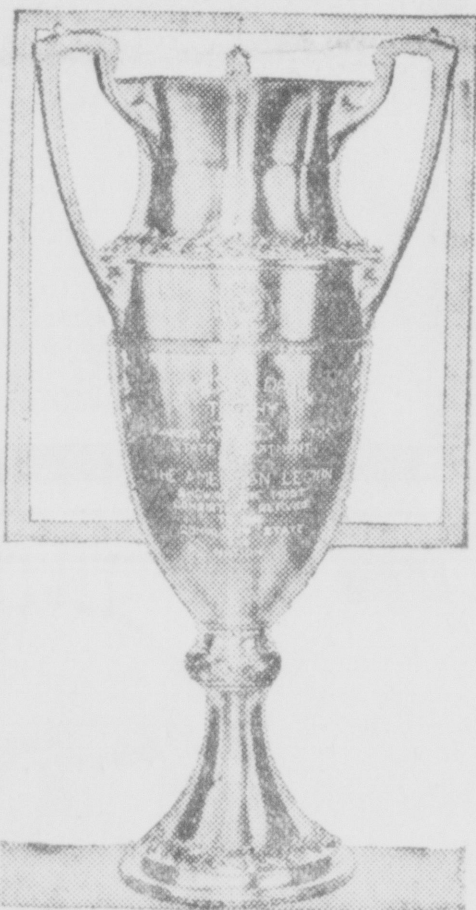

The Rhine pact is signed by France, Germany and Belgium, with Great Britain and Italy as guarantors, and by its provisions the signatories undertake to refrain from attacking or invading the territory of the others. Great Britain and Italy pledge their resources for use against a signer who violates the terms of the pact.

Locarno was given over to rejoicing Friday night. Bands played in crowded streets and new electrical displays in a place that was already ablaze with special illuminations, made it a fairland of lighted gaiety.

YOUNG WOMEN FIGHT AND MAUL JUST LIKE MEN

Sensational Scene in Front of Grand Opera House and City Building.

A fight between two girls, Lillian Eby and Mary Clark occurred in front of the Grand theater Friday evening and later in front of the city building on South Court street. The girls it seems became quite obstreperous and mauled and cursed each other pretty lively before the police placed them under arrest. They were later allowed to go to their own homes for the night. The Clark girl is employed at the Star restaurant and put up $5 for her appearance.

The Eby girl, who is seventeen, was turned over to the juvenile court and will have a hearing next week. She is in the custody of the probation officer, Mrs. Carrie A. Patton.

Columbus, — Declaring there is "a growing disregard to the elective franchise," Secretary of State Thad Brown in a letter to election board officials throughout the state Friday, urged every voter be asked to cast a ballot in the November election, "if possible."

"Election statistics prove all too conclusively that there is a growing neglect in Ohio in regard to the elective franchise which is and should be the most vital and highly prized privilege of American citizenship," Brown wrote.

Columbus, —Retrial of William G. Benham and Dwight L. Harrison, former officials of the R. L. Dollings company on charges of using the mails to defraud, is in progress.

OHIO GROWERS TOLD POTATO SEED SCARCE

Buckeye Certified Crop Only Half Normal—Order Now is Advice Given.

Seed potatoes will be scarce next spring. If Ohio growers want sound seed next spring, they will be wise to put in orders this fall for spring delivery.

The fact that Ohio this fall has only half its usual supply of certified seed potatoes prompts N. W. Glines, horticulture extension specialist at the Ohio State university, to make the above statement. Michigan, he reports, also has a short crop.

Last spring 158 acres of potatoes were entered by Ohio growers for certification by the Ohio Seed Potato Certification association, but only a fourth of that acreage—39 acres, could be certified this fall after two field inspections. A bin inspection is yet to come.

That leaves Ohio with about 5000 bushels of certified seed available for next spring, as compared with 11,500 bushels last year. Last year, Mr. Glines points out, only 115 acres were submitted for certification, but 68.75 acres, 60 per cent of the total were approved.

Certified seed potatoes must pass two field inspections and one bin inspection. They must not show more than two per cent of injury from disease or insect pests, and not more than one per cent varietal impurity.

Drouth was partly to blame for the reduction in certified seed this year, in Mr. Glines' opinion. Potatoes weakened under the lack of moisture and gave diseases like scurf, fusarium and blackleg a chance to operate.

PROHIBITION ACTIVITIES ON DECLINE

Automobiles and Liquors Worth $153,000 Seized in Ohio in September.

Columbus, O. Oct. 16 (UP). —Federal prohibition activities in the Ohio-Michigan district, slumped during September.

The decline was revealed in the report of District Administrator E. L. Porterfield, forwarded to Washington Friday.

Ninety arrests were made in Michigan and 100 in Chicago. Seventy-five prosecutions were recommended in Ohio and fifty in Michigan.

In Michigan federal officers seized 328 gallons of liquor, eight stills, 771 gallons of wine, 3615 gallons of beer, 15,450 gallons of mash and 11 automobiles valued at $5,775.

In Ohio the record was 828 gallons of liquor, 2285 gallons of beer, 51,375 gallons of wine, 356 gallons of cider, 10,500 gallons of mash, seven automobiles valued at $3,000 and property worth $150,000.

The heavy showing on wine and property resulted from the seizure of a winery near Sandusky.

Possibly Terrier May Become Musical Critic
A tenor, letting his eyes rove over the audience as he waited for the accompanist to get through the introductory measures, was astonished to see a brindled bull terrier occupying one of the best seats in the house. So great was his wonderment that he sang that song directly to the dog, which cocked an alert head inquiringly to one side in an attitude of rapt attention.
After the concert, the tenor asked the manager of the hall to explain the presence of the dog.
"That's all right," soothed the manager, "at dog's seat was paid for."
"But why was the dog there, I'm asking?" persisted the tenor.
"Well, it's this way: His owner, one of the rich women of this town, hates to be disturbed during a concert by having some restless person sit in front of her, so for the course she buys two seats, tandem, assigning the one in front of her to the dog; and blame me, mister, that terrier is beginning to enjoy the music!"—Boyden Sparks in the Saturday Evening Post.
That's the Question
"I say, doctor, did you ever doctor another doctor?" "Oh, yes." "Well, does a doctor doctor a doctor the way the doctored doctor wants to be doctored, or does the doctor doing the doctoring doctor the other doctor in his own way?"—Providence Journal.

—WE SAVE YOU MONEY—

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

UNIVERSITY

HEAD DEFENDS
STUDENT BODY

Dr. Thompson Says Race Not Degenerating—Standards are More Exacting.

Columbus, O., Oct., 16, (UP).—President W. O. Thompson of Ohio State university, Friday defended the modern college generation.

Dr. Thompson has been a college executive for 38 years, 26 of which has been served as president of the State university. He retires November 5 at the age of 70.

The superficial and artificial phases of youth, he maintained, are taken too seriously while the good is seldom suspected. The modern student will justify himself, he predicted.

"Too many parents and professors assume that all responsibility rests with youth. Public men including faculties, spend their energies in social diagnosis and spiritual whining," Dr. Thompson declared.

The race, he declared, is not degenerating. The problem of the present generation is more exacting, "because of the progress in ideals and more exacting standards."

"We now see clearly where our fathers did not comprehend," he said.

Twenty Rural Communities Ask Aid of Extension Service in Dramatics.

Amateur dramatics, not usually included in farm programs, has been written into the programs of rural communities in 20 Ohio counties for the first time this year.

Announcement of this comes from the agricultural college extension service at the Ohio State university, in proof that Ohio rural groups are as much interested in living as in making a living. It was in response to this demand that the State university on August 1, added to the agricultural extension staff a specialist in rural recreation, R. B. Tom, former county club agent in Summit county.

The new extension man had his first field meeting last week in Washington county with a group of 47 representatives from churches, schools, granges and other community organizations. Some drove 60 miles to and from the all day session.

At that meeting they discussed choosing and directing a play, then read several short ones over, and became acquainted with stage directions and movements. At a second meeting next month the same group will study staging, lighting and costuming and at a third and final meeting some of the group will present a short play and all will study the art of make-up.

Those who attend the three meetings, it is expected, will be better able to direct and stage plays for the organizations they represent.

Warning to Writers

All reading demands an effort. The energy, the good will which a reader brings to the book is, and must be, partly expended in the labor of reading, marking, earning, inwardly digesting what the author means. The more difficulties, then, we authors obtrude on him by obscure or careless writing, the more we blunt the edge of his attention: so that if only in our own interest—though I had rather keep it on the ground of courtesy—we should study to anticipate his comfort.—A. Quiller-Couch.

RIGHT

The appointments and the thoughtful administration of our duties renders the occasion one of reverence and sympathy.

A service of dignity that wins the approbation of everyone is found here.

A Daring Departure in 1921

.. today, the nation's standard for small home heating

"BEAUTIFUL, yes, but will it work?" Many questions, like this one, greeted the Heatrola in 1921. It was so different in appearance and operation from anything known before.

But Heatrola "worked!" From the day of the first installation, its success was assured. For Heatrola, handsome as a fine mahogany cabinet, and as easy to keep clean, does the work of a basement furnace! It keeps every room in the house, upstairs and down, cozy and snug in coldest weather. And requires no more fuel than any stove requires.

Tens of thousands of homes enjoyed Heatrola's furnace comfort last Winter—many thousands more will own Heatrolas before snow flies. Right here in this community, the homes of many of your neighbors are kept warm by this modern heating method. Let us show you these Heatrolas, and tell you how easily you can own one, too. AMUSEMENTS

William K. Howard, whose epic production "The Thundering Herd" is still fresh in the minds of moviegoers, recently completed another Paramount western based on Zane Grey's powerful frontier story "The Light of Western Stars," which makes its local debut at the Metropolitan theater Monday.
Advance reports hail it as the film drama of perfect suspense, and those who have been privileged to preview the picture agree that the plot builds to what amounts to a triple climax in a way that is totally unexpected and extremely exciting.
The principal characters in this mighty production, which depicts in graphic and stirring fashion the last, desperate stand of banded outlaws on the remaining vestige of frontier America, include a notorious bandit chief, a daring, romantic cowboy and a beautiful eastern girl, portrayed respectively by Noah Beery, Jack Holt and Billie Dove.
The action develops some smashing dramatic situations and hairraising thrills, but takes a startling turn when Beery abducts Miss Dove and follows that up by capturing Holt and William Scott, her brother. The girl is suddenly faced with a dilemma that is overwhelming, for Beery, with fiendish cunning, tells her that she may have her choice of naming either her brother or the man she loves to go free; the other must die.
This is where the suspense begins in earnest. Each urges her to save the other. Finally she asks that Holt's life be spared, but Beery's subtle cruelty is now revealed. He turns Scott loose instead and sends Holt on the "walk to death." Each moment one expects to see the lionhearted cowboy fall as the bandits open fire on him as he walks away.
Meanwhile, Holt's friends, having learned of his danger, starts out on a wild ride of rescue, arriving just in the nick of time. In the battle between the rescuers and the outlaws, the former are outnumbered, and the suspense increases until reinforcements arrive and engage the bandits in a furious gun fight.
"The Light of Western Stars" is the kind of red-blooded entertainment that is universal in its appeal;

Genius Budded Early
Douglas Jerrold achieved success on the stage with a farce written when he was fourteen, and William Henry Ireland produced his famous Shakespeare forgeries, and for a time deceived the most learned men in the country, when he was only seventeen.

Treasures Apology Made by Lincoln for Error

Oakland, Cal.—John G. Crouch, eighty-two, was once the recipient of an apology from Abraham Lincoln.

Crouch was born on a farm in Rochester, Sangamon county, eight miles from Springfield, Ill. As a youngster, he often went to the capital with the farm help to dispose of produce.

One one occasion he entered the stable on Lincoln's property and was leaving, when Lincoln arrived and searched his pockets, saying eggs had disappeared from the place.

A week later, the Crouch boy was told by his father to visit Lincoln's law office. This he did.

"You are David Crouch's son," said the future emancipator. "I wrongfully suspected you of stealing eggs and I want you to forgive me."

Crouch lived in Sangamon county 50 years and saw Lincoln many times. He often sold apples to Mrs. Lincoln. One May 4, 1863, Crouch viewed the body of the assassinated President.

A Lover of Statistics

There was a seance on—a regular seance, with a trance medium and a black chessboard cabinet and a mysterious table rapper and a ghostly guitar picker and a snail of frying cabbage floating in from the back of the house and everything orthodox, like that. The medium was a stout lady in black, who was raising a brown mustache and whose controls took those liberties with the English language which seemingly is permitted in a realm where there is neither space nor time—nor grammar. She came from Brooklyn, where so many of those who take in spiritualism for a living do come from, but at the time of which I speak she was playing the provinces, as the trouper says. The audience was of fairish size. Amid the throng sat a half-grown youth from about three miles out on R. F. D. No. 3. He was attending his first spiritualistic seance. And he was being suitably impressed. As manifestation succeeded manifestation, his eyes popped and his ears twitched. If he had had gills, beyond doubt they would have opened and closed.

Presently the medium's husband, who acted, so to speak, as ringmaster, desired to know whether there was yet another present desirous of having speech with some dear departed one. If so madame would undertake to establish liaison.

This was the cue for the yokel. He mustered courage to utter an embarrassed plea. He wished to have speech with the shade of his late father.

After a proper wait there were sounds in the cabinet and through the darkness there spoke the tones of one of seeming hoary age.

"Is that you, my son?" asked the voice.

"Yes, paw, this here is me," answered the youth.

"Was there any questions you wished to ask me concernin' my present state?" continued the accommodating voice.

The boy thought a moment. Then: "Where air you, paw?" he inquired with simple directness.

"Heaven, my son."

"Air you an angel, paw?"

"Oh, yes, my son."

"An angel with wings and a harp and everything?"

The answer was somewhat muffled but seemingly in the affirmative. The son considered a moment. Then he had an inspiration.

"I say, paw," he demanded sagely, "what do you measure from tip to tip?"

He Didn't Believe in Signs

A fireman on duty behind the scenes of one of the big New York theaters and charged with the responsibility of seeing to it that the regulations were strictly obeyed back-stage, suffered a profound shock as he came around from behind a stack of scenery, just before the evening performance. Standing in the opposite wings was a salesman for an East side cloak and suit concern, who had procured entrance via the stage door for the purpose of soliciting orders for his wares among the young ladies of the chorus. This person was vehemently puffing on a large, long, black, malignant-looking cigar.

In three jumps the scandalized fireman had the violator by the arm.

"Say," he demanded, "what the h—! do you mean, comin' in here with that torch burnin' in your face? Don't you see that sign right up over your head?"

The trespasser's eyes turned where the fireman's finger pointed.

"Sure, mister," he said, "I see it."

"Well, can't you read?" demanded the fireman.

"Sure I can read," admitted the other calmly.

"Then read what it says there. Don't you see what it says in big letters? It says—'No Smoking.'"

"Yes," agreed the East Side with a winning smile, "but it don't say 'Positively.'"

Ladies First Always

The man who told me this one, as we stood together on the rim of the Grand Canyon, swore it was true. I believed him, for he had the reputation all over the Southwest of never telling an unnecessary lie.

He said a typical "mover," shiftless, restless and sockless, was spending a short time at an Arizona cow camp preparatory to moving on into the desert on a so-called prospecting tour. His chief earthly possessions consisted of a pair of slab-sided mules, a rickety prairie schooner, a wife, four children and six hound dogs.

The wife, who was a tired-out, faded-out creature, complained to some of the ranch hands of the hardness of her lot; and the foreman took it upon himself to remonstrate with the husband for his indifference to his wife's welfare.

"The old woman ain't got no kick comin'!" said the husband when he had heard the foreman's remarks. "She ain't got no kick at all. She's plum' pampered—only she don't appreciate it none. Why, when we is fixin' to camp of a night many a time I've driv' the team half a mile out of the way so's wood and water would be handy for the old woman to fetch!"

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

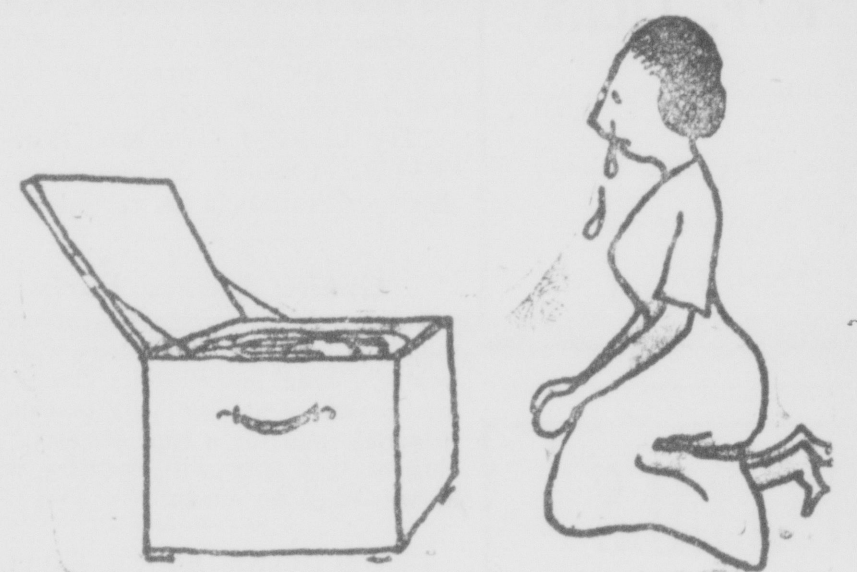

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide

- (1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
- (2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
- (3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.

This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.

Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

Hawaii Not Entitled to Credit for "Uke"

The ukulele, so long associated with the weird, plaintive music of Hawaii, is not an Hawaiian invention, but was introduced in the islands by the Portuguese in 1879. This iconoclastic discovery was made during recent researches by Miss Helen M. Roberts, who made a collection of ancient native songs and music for the territorial government.

"Ukulele" is the common term for "flea" and means, literally, "little thing that jumps." The musical instrument obtained its name from Edward Purvis, at one time vice chamberlain of the court of King Kalakaua, a very slight and active man, who became a very efficient performer on the Portuguese instrument.

Miss Roberts ascertained her facts by inquiries among elderly Portuguese residents of Honolulu.

Take on Heavy Frankfort Eleven Next Sunday.

When the whistle blows next Sunday afternoon at Mason's Field it will send the Eagles against the heaviest team by far that they have met this season, namely the Frankfort Independents.

Frankfort as usual boasts a good, fast, heavy team and they have defeated some of the best teams in Southern Ohio this fall. Their team is made up of former High School and college stars and they present a high class team both on the offense and defense.

A few of Circleville's men who have been out of the game for a couple of weeks will be back and the Eagles will be able to launch their full strength in this game.

The public has not been supporting this excellent football team as it should, and if the crowds are not better it will be necessary to book games out of town for the remainder of the season.

A team that has won three games from teams of the caliber shown by the Ohio Stoves, Washington and Schalls certainly deserves a great deal of support, so let everyone come out Sunday and make some noise.

Heat with Distinction

At last it is proved that a home heater can be good looking—ornamental, if you will—as well as a practical heat-producing utility.

The Mueller Furnacette marks the greatest advance in home heating equipment since the invention of the heating stove. It is the joint creation of master furniture designers and skilled heating engineers. There is distinction in every line of its well-balanced, walnut-grained, vitreous enamel cabinet.

And as for heat—never was there an above-floor heater of any kind that could compare with the Furnacette in heating efficiency! It heats the whole house by continuously re-circulating warm, moist air thru all the rooms. It provides more comfortable, more uniform heat than two or three stoves combined, yet uses no more fuel than an ordinary heating stove.

Sold on convenient monthly payments.

Elocutionist's Finish

Llewellyn Leggs, chief game proctor of New York, was condemning the brutes who poisoned thousands of fish in Congress lake.

"I'd give those fellows," he said, "what Mrs. Malaprop proposed to give her daughter."

"Your daughter recited 'The May Queen' real well," the minister's wife said to Mrs. Malaprop at a strawberry festival.

"Yes," said Mrs. Malaprop, with a pleased titter. "Yes, I'm going to give her a course of electrocution."

"Then she waved her hand and added:

"Kind o' finish her off, ye know."

NATIONS SIGN SECURITY PROTOCOL

LOCARNO CONFERENCE ENDS DECORUM THROWN TO WINDS

When Signing of Treaty Is Made—Throngs Cheer Germans, French and British Representatives To Peace Conference—Swiss Town In the Grip of a Carnival Spirit When the Second Armistice Is Signed By the Nations of Europe.

Europe's great security conference ended Friday night in a victory for peace.

At exactly 7:20 the European statesman who made this victory possible threw open a window on the second floor of the Palace of Justice and, rejecting decorum, announced to the waiting multitude that the Rhine pact and other treaties had been formally approved.

One of their number waved aloft the final protocol bearing the signatures of all the delegations as proof that the conference had succeeded in its mission.

Instantly the crowd gave vent to enthusiasm, rockets were sent into the air, their balls of fire narrowly escaping entering the windows and falling upon the shoulders of the delegates. The appearance at the window of M. Briand, the French foreign minister, was greeted with prolonged cheering.

When the British foreign secretary Austen Chamberlain came and waved his hand, the crowd clamored for a speech. Chancellor Luther and the German foreign minister, Dr. Stresemann, were acclaimed with no less fervor than their colleagues.

Laud Briand's Speech.

M. Briand's speech at the closing session of the conference which adjourned with the understanding that the treaties will be signed in London December 1, was described by his colleagues afterward as the most brilliant effort of his long career.

Dr. Stresemann had spoken first. Summarizing the work of the conference and emphasizing that its success spelled a new era in European relations, he declared solemnly that Germany would loyally live up to the peace pact. He made a discreet allusion to foreign occupation of the Rhineland.

In response, M. Briand said that Locarno was not the end, but the beginning, of a new epoch—an epoch of cooperation and friendship. He gave unstinted praise to the noble ideals and generosity of the German statesmen who had originated the idea of fashioning security pacts for the maintenance of peace and declared that the world would duly render homage to this happy initiative.

He frankly took up Dr. Stresemann's allusion to the occupation and made it clear that this occupation would be so reduced as to give Germany no cause for complaint or uneasiness.

Turning toward Chancellor Luther and Dr. Stresemann, he said: "The people of France will soon recognize your loyal statement by an expression of good will toward the German people."

Austen Chamberlain, habitually cold and always master of himself, appeared to be at the verge of breaking down under the weight of joy and emotion which checked his words and made them almost unintelligible.

He dwelt upon what Locarno meant to world harmony and to the hopes of all peoples, and paid moving tribute to the spirit of accommodation of all the delegates.

M. Vandervelde, Belgium's Socialist foreign minister, pledged that the Socialists would ever, with heart and soul, back up the results achieved at Locarno, saying that the Socialists who suffered during the war knew the real meaning of peace.

At the closing session the Rhine

pact and the collateral arbitration treaties were all initialed and the final act or protocol was signed.

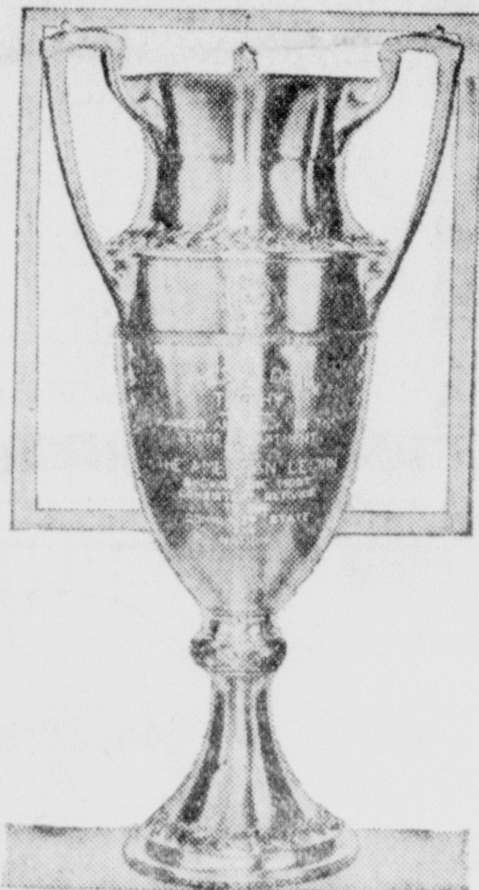

The Rhine pact is signed by France, Germany and Belgium, with Great Britain and Italy as guarantors, and by its provisions the signatories undertake to refrain from attacking or invading the territory of the others. Great Britain and Italy pledge their resources for use against a signer who violates the terms of the pact.

Locarno was given over to rejoicing Friday night. Bands played in crowded streets and new electrical displays in a place that was already ablaze with special illuminations, made it a fairyland of lighted gaiety.

Passes Old Mark by Writing 103 in one Day—Previous Record was 101.

Harold R. Hitt, of Jackson, life insurance man, established a new world record for the number of policies written by a single agent in one day last Thursday says the Jackson Sun-Journal. He wrote 103 applications in one day. The previous record was 101 held by a New York man.

Hitt's applications were checked at 10:30 Thursday evening and his figures were found to be correct. "I am just as happy as if I had written 125," Mr. Hitt declared, "for I have reached my goal."

His campaign has attracted wide attention, because of its daring and ambition. Congratulations were pouring into his office from every part of the county Thursday night.

Mr. Hitt is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hitt, of North Scioto street, this city.

Columbus, — Declaring there is "a growing disregard to the elective franchise," Secretary of State Thad Brown in a letter to election board officials thruout the state Friday, urged every voter be asked to cast a ballot in the November election, "if possible."

"Election statistics prove all too conclusively that there is a growing neglect in Ohio in regard to the elective franchise which is and should be the most vital and highly prized privilege of American citizenship," Brown wrote.

Columbus, —Retrial of William G. Benham and Dwight L. Harrison, former officials of the R. L. Dollings company on charges of using the mails to defraud, is in progress.

Benham and Harrison are charged with fraud in connection with the sale of stock of the International Note and Mortgage company, a Dollings subsidiary.

OHIO GROWERS TOLD POTATO SEED SCARCE

Buckeye Certified Crop Only Half Normal—Order Now is Advice Given.

Seed potatoes will be scarce next spring. If Ohio growers want sound seed next spring, they will be wise to put in orders this fall for spring delivery.

The fact that Ohio this fall has only half its usual supply of certified seed potatoes prompts N. W. Glines, horticulture extension specialist at the Ohio State university, to make the above statement. Michigan, he reports, also has a short crop.

Last spring 158 acres of potatoes were entered by Ohio growers for certification by the Ohio Seed Potato Certification association, but only a fourth of that acreage—39 acres, could be certified this fall after two field inspections. A bin inspection is yet to come.

That leaves Ohio with about 5000 bushels of certified seed available for next spring, as compared with 11,500 bushels last year. Last year, Mr. Glines points out, only 115 acres were submitted for certification, but 68.75 acres, 60 per cent of the total were approved.

Certified seed potatoes must pass two field inspections and one bin inspection. They must not show more than two per cent of injury from disease or insect pests, and not more than one per cent varietal impurity.

Drouth was partly to blame for the reduction in certified seed this year, in Mr. Glines' opinion. Potatoes weakened under the lack of moisture and gave diseases like scurf, fusarium and blackleg a chance to operate.

PROHIBITION ACTIVITIES ON DECLINE

Automobiles and Liquors Worth $153,000 Seized in Ohio in September.

Columbus, O. Oct. 16 (UP). —Federal prohibition activities in the Ohio-Michigan district, slumped during September.

The decline was revealed in the report of District Administrator E. L. Porterfield, forwarded to Washington Friday.

Ninety arrests were made in Michigan and 100 in Chicago. Seventy-five prosecutions were recommended in Ohio and fifty in Michigan.

In Michigan federal officers seized 328 gallons of liquor, eight stills, 771 gallons of wine, 3615 gallons of beer, 15,450 gallons of mash and 11 automobiles valued at $5,775.

In Ohio the record was 828 gallons of liquor, 2285 gallons of beer, 51,375 gallons of wine, 356 gallons of cider, 10,500 gallons of mash, seven automobiles valued at $3,000 and property worth $150,000.

The heavy showing on wine and property resulted from the seizure of a winery near Sandusky.

The Junior department class of the Methodist Episcopal church entertained Mrs. Braggs class of girls Thursday evening. The classes were well represented and enjoyed the evening immensely. Sweet cider and doughnuts were served before leaving.

YOUNG WOMEN FIGHT AND MAUL JUST LIKE MEN

Sensational Scene in Front of Grand Opera House and City Building.

A fight between two girls, Lillian Eby and Mary Clark occurred in front of the Grand theater Friday evening and later in front of the city building on South Court street. The girls it seems became quite obstreperous and mauled and cursed each other pretty lively before the police placed them under arrest. They were later allowed to go to their own homes for the night. The Clark girl is employed at the Star restaurant and put up $5 for her appearance.

The Eby girl, who is seventeen, was turned over to the juvenile court and will have a hearing next week. She is in the custody of the probation officer, Mrs. Carrie A. Patton.

Possibly Terrier May Become Musical Critic
A tenor, letting his eyes rove over the audience as he waited for the accompanist to get through the introductory measures, was astonished to see a brindled bull terrier occupying one of the best seats in the house. So great was his wonderment that he sang that song directly to the dog, which cocked an alert head inquiringly to one side in an attitude of rapt attention.
After the concert, the tenor asked the manager of the hall to explain the presence of the dog.
"That's all right," soothed the manager, "at dog's seat was paid for."
"But why was the dog there, I'm asking?" persisted the tenor.
"Well, it's this way: His owner, one of the rich women of this town, hates to be disturbed during a concert by having some restless person sit in front of her, so for the course she buys two seats, tandem, assigning the one in front of her to the dog; and blame me, mister, that terrier is beginning to enjoy the music!"—Boyd Sparks in the Saturday Evening Post.
That's the Question
"I say, doctor, did you ever doctor another doctor?" "Oh, yes." "Well, does a doctor doctor a doctor the way the doctored doctor wants to be doctored, or does the doctor doing the doctoring doctor the other doctor in his own way?"—Providence Journal.

—WE SAVE YOU MONEY—

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. Will you let me help you select the memorial for your lot. Call at show room. NO AGENTS.

UNIVERSITY HEAD DEFENDS STUDENT BODY

Dr. Thompson Says Race Not Degenerating—Standards are More Exacting.

Columbus, O., Oct. 16, (UP). — President W. O. Thompson of Ohio State university, Friday defended the modern college generation.

Dr. Thompson has been a college executive for 38 years, 26 of which has been served as president of the State university. He retires November 5 at the age of 70.

The superficial and artificial phases of youth, he maintained, are taken too seriously while the good is seldom suspected. The modern student will justify himself, he predicted.

"Too many parents and professors assume that all responsibility rests with youth. Public men including faculties, spend their energies in social diagnosis and spiritual whining," Dr. Thompson declared.

The race, he declared, is not degenerating. The problem of the present generation is more exacting, "because of the progress in ideals and more exacting standards."

"We now see clearly where our fathers did not comprehend," he said.

THEATRICALS INCLUDED IN FARM PROGRAM

Twenty Rural Communities
Ask Aid of Extension Service In Dramatics.

Amateur dramatics, not usually included in farm programs, has been written into the programs of rural communities in 20 Ohio counties for the first time this year.

Announcement of this comes from the agricultural college extension service at the Ohio State university, in proof that Ohio rural groups are as much interested in living as in making a living. It was in response to this demand that the State university on August 1, added to the agricultural extension staff a specialist in rural recreation, R. B. Tom, former county club agent in Summit county.

The new extension man had his first field meeting last week in Washington county with a group of 47 representatives from churches, schools, granges and other community organizations. Some drove 60 miles to and from the all day session.

At that meeting they discussed choosing and directing a play, then read several short ones over, and became acquainted with stage directions and movements. At a second meeting next month the same group will study staging, lighting and costuming and at a third and final meeting some of the group will present a short play and all will study the art of make-up.

Those who attend the three meetings, it is expected, will be better able to direct and stage plays for the organizations they represent.

Warning to Writers

All reading demands an effort. The energy, the good-will which a reader brings to the book is, and must be, partly expended in the labor of reading, marking, earning, inwardly digesting what the author means. The more difficulties, then, we authors obtrude on him by obscure or careless writing, the more we blunt the edge of his attention: so that if only in our own interest—though I had rather keep it on the ground of courtesy—we should study to anticipate his comfort.—A. Quiller-Couch.

RIGHT

The appointments and the thoughtful administration of our duties renders the occasion one of reverence and sympathy. A service of dignity that wins the approbation of everyone is found here.

A Daring Departure in 1921

.. today, the nation's standard for small home heating

"BEAUTIFUL, yes, but will it work?" Many questions, like this one, greeted the Heatrola in 1921. It was so different in appearance and operation from anything known before.

But Heatrola "worked!" From the day of the first installation, its success was assured. For Heatrola, handsome as a fine mahogany cabinet, and as easy to keep clean, does the work of a basement furnace! It keeps every room in the house, upstairs and down, cozy and snug in coldest weather. And requires no more fuel than any stove requires.

Tens of thousands of homes enjoyed Heatrola's furnace comfort last Winter—many thousands more will own Heatrolas before snow flies. Right here in this community, the homes of many of your neighbors are kept warm by this modern heating method. Let us show you these Heatrolas, and tell you how easily you can own one, too. A Lover of Statistics

There was a seance on—a regular seance, with a trance medium and a black cheesecloth cabinet and a mysterious table rapper and a ghostly guitar picker and a snail of frying cabbage floating in from the back of the house and everything orthodox, like that. The medium was a stout lady in black, who was raising a brown mustache and whose controls took those liberties with the English language which seemingly is permitted in a realm where there is neither space nor time—nor grammar. She came from Brooklyn, where so many of those who take in spiritualism for a living do come from, but at the time of which I speak she was playing the provinces, as the trouper says. The audience was of fairish size. Amid the throng sat a half-grown youth from about three miles out on R. F. D. No. 3. He was attending his first spiritualistic seance. And he was being suitably impressed. As manifestation succeeded manifestation, his eyes popped and his ears twitched. If he had had gills, beyond doubt they would have opened and closed.
Presently the medium's husband, who acted, so to speak, as ringmaster, desired to know whether there was yet another present desirous of having speech with some dear departed one. If so madame would undertake to establish liaison.
This was the cue for the yokel. He mustered courage to stutter an embarrassed plea. He wished to have speech with the shade of his late father.
After a proper wait there were sounds in the cabinet and through the darkness there spoke the tones of one of seeming hoary age.
"Is that you, my son?" asked the voice.
"Yes, paw, this here is me," answered the youth.
"Was there any questions you wished to ask me concernin' my present state?" continued the accommodating voice.
The boy thought a moment. Then: "Where air you, paw?" he inquired with simple directness.
"Heaven, my son."
"Air you an angel, paw?"
"Oh, yes, my son."
"An angel with wings and a harp and everything?"
The answer was somewhat muffled but seemingly in the affirmative. The son considered a moment. Then he had an inspiration.
"I say, paw," he demanded sagely, "what do you measure frum tip to tip?"

A System of Farming That Brings Health and Prosperity

Every farm, regardless of the method of farming practiced or of the crops raised, should have at least a few good milch cows to provide
(1) Enough milk, cream and butter for home use;
(2) Enough skim-milk to raise some calves, pigs and chickens;
(3) Enough cream or butter to sell to pay, in part or entirely, current living expenses.
This plan has been a "life-saver" for thousands of farmers, especially during the hard times of the past two years. It insures a living, at least, and often other income besides.
Such a plan pays best with a De Laval Cream Separator. It soon pays for itself—and skims cleaner, lasts longer and is easier to operate and clean than any other.

He Didn't Believe in Signs

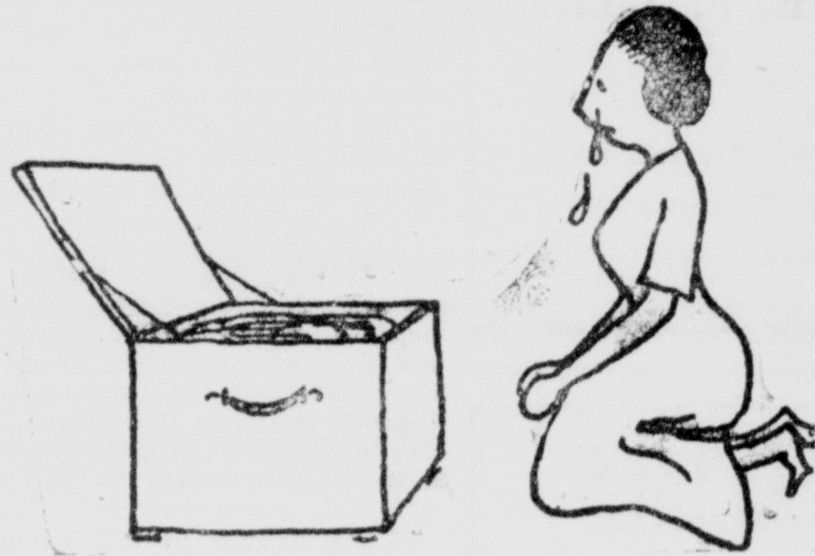

A fireman on duty behind the scenes of one of the big New York theaters and charged with the responsibility of seeing to it that the regulations were strictly obeyed backstage, suffered a profound shock as he came around from behind a stack of scenery, just before the evening performance. Standing in the opposite wings was a salesman for an East side cloak and suit concern, who had procured entrance via the stage door for the purpose of soliciting orders for his wares among the young ladies of the chorus. This person was vehemently puffing on a large, long, black, malignant-looking cigar.
In three jumps the scandalized fireman had the violator by the arm.
"Say," he demanded, "what the h—l do you mean, comin' in here with that torch burnin' in your face? Don't you see that sign right up over your head?"
The trespasser's eyes turned where the fireman's finger pointed.
"Sure, mister," he said, "I see it."
"Well, can't you read?" demanded the fireman.
"Sure I can read," admitted the other calmly.
"Then read what it says there. Don't you see what it says in big letters? It says—'No Smoking.'"
"Yes," agreed the East Sider with a winning smile, "but it don't say 'Positively.'"

Ladies First Always

The man who told me this one, as we stood together on the rim of the Grand Canyon, swore it was true. I believed him, for he had the reputation all over the Southwest of never telling an unnecessary lie.
He said a typical "mover," shiftless, restless and sockless, was spending a short time at an Arizona cow camp preparatory to moving on into the desert on a so-called prospecting tour. His chief earthly possessions consisted of a pair of slab-sided mules, a rickety prairie schooner, a wife, four children and six hound dogs.
The wife, who was a tired-out, faded-out creature, complained to some of the ranch hands of the hardness of her lot; and the foreman took it upon himself to remonstrate with the husband for his indifference to his wife's welfare.
"The old woman ain't got no kick comin'!" said the husband when he had heard the foreman's remarks. "She ain't got no kick at all. She's plum' pampered—only she don't appreciate it none. Why, when we is fixin' to camp of a night many a time I've driv' the team half a mile out of the way so's wood and water would be handy fur the old woman to fetch!"

THIS snug hat and scarf to match can be made by any girl who is clever with her needle. The material is sand colored duvetyne. The embroidery that makes the set so smart is done in English Angora yarns in warm Autumn shades. These yarns are something very new that have just been introduced in this country from England. The colors used in the conventional design are suede, russet, cinnamon and tangerine. These give effect of cheerful warmth most fitting on a frosty day.

Hawaii Not Entitled to Credit for "Uke"

The ukulele, so long associated with the weird, plaintive music of Hawaii, is not an Hawaiian invention, but was introduced in the islands by the Portuguese in 1879. This iconoclastic discovery was made during recent researches by Miss Helen M. Roberts, who made a collection of ancient native songs and music for the territorial government.

"Ukulele" is the common term for "flea" and means, literally, "little thing that jumps." The musical instrument obtained its name from Edward Purvis, at one time vice chamberlain of the court of King Kalakaua, a very slight and active man, who became a very efficient performer on the Portuguese instrument.

Miss Roberts ascertained her facts by inquiries among elderly Portuguese residents of Honolulu.

CIRCLEVILLE EAGLES

Take on Heavy Frankfort Eleven Next Sunday.

When the whistle blows next Sunday afternoon at Mason's Field it will send the Eagles against the heaviest team by far that they have met this season, namely the Frankfort Independents.

Frankfort as usual boasts a good, fast, heavy team and they have defeated some of the best teams in Southern Ohio this fall. Their team is made up of former High School and college stars and they present a high class team both on the offense and defense.

A few of Circleville's men who have been out of the game for a couple of weeks will be back and the Eagles will be able to launch their full strength in this game.

The public has not been supporting this excellent football team as it should, and if the crowds are not better it will be necessary to book games out of town for the remainder of the season.

A team that has won three games from teams of the caliber shown by the Ohio Stoves, Washington and Schalls certainly deserves a great deal of support, so let everyone come out Sunday and make some noise.

2000 "DRY DICKS" AMPUTATED FROM GOVERNMENT JOBS

Washington, Oct. 15.—The last preliminary phase of federal prohibition enforcement reorganization ended tonight, and Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury is now in direct control of an enforcement machine of his own molding.

Two thousand prohibition agents and employees of the prohibition service automatically went off the government pay roll with the effecting of the new order at midnight, Andrews having chartered a course which he believes will permit enforcement with a considerable smaller number than heretofore employed.

Heat with Distinction

At last it is proved that a home heater can be good looking—ornamental, if you will—as well as a practical heat-producing utility.

The Mueller Furnacette marks the greatest advance in home heating equipment since the invention of the heating stove. It is the joint creation of master furniture designers and skilled heating engineers. There is distinction in every line of its well-balanced, walnut-grained, vitreous enamel cabinet.

And as for heat—never was there an above-floor heater of any kind that could compare with the Furnacette in heating efficiency! It heats the whole house by continuously re-circulating warm, moist air thru all the rooms. It provides more comfortable, more uniform heat than two or three stoves combined, yet uses no more fuel than an ordinary heating stove.

Sold on convenient monthly payments.
